

Where are the PDP questions for THE MASTER TEACHER Pd PROGRAM?

THE MASTER TEACHER is proud to announce the release of our new delivery system, ProVenance. ProVenance allows us to deliver ALL of our online professional development, including the PDP (Professional Development Points) questions associated with THE MASTER TEACHER Pd PROGRAM, in one place. (It also allows organizations to deliver all of their professional development in the same system. Read on to learn more!)

Why did the questions move?

We moved the questions into our new delivery system for a number of reasons. First, it prevents educators from having to visit different websites to access their professional development. Second, it eliminates our need to maintain multiple websites. Other reasons are tied to accountability. For example, we had no way to ensure that users were actually reading the entire module and no way to document how much time was being spent on each one to ensure the appropriate amount of credit was awarded.

The New Generation: ProVenance

Our new system (ProVenance) solves these problems! ProVenance delivers each weekly MASTER TEACHER module electronically. The system tracks the total time a user spends reading each module and ensures that he or she visits each page. An audio version of each module is also included, allowing the user to listen to the material instead of read it. The post-test (also known as PDP questions) will appear at the end of each module, and each question will be graded automatically.

In addition, ProVenance includes a number of administrative reporting features. Each user automatically generates a transcript that tracks how many modules have been completed and how many credits have been earned. Administrators can even assign specific modules to individual users. Plus, with 5 years of archive material, there is no shortage of content or opportunities to earn Professional Development Points. The system even gives organizations the ability to track other PD activities and credits earned outside the system!

But wait... there's more!

Our ProVenance delivery system is truly one-of-a-kind. It comes with user-friendly, step-by-step templates to help organizations create and deliver their own content at no additional charge. And the same reporting and management tools are available for custom content. Finally, this system requires no software to download and no tech support to upkeep—just an easy and convenient delivery of content!

How do I access the PDP material for THE MASTER TEACHER Pd PROGRAM?

If you are the person at your organization who purchases THE MASTER TEACHER Pd PROGRAM for your staff, simply contact your Solutions Consultant today at 800.669.9633, and ask about changing your delivery method from print to online (at no additional cost). If you're an individual teacher, you can buy your own license to the online program by visiting www.provenancesolutions.com and clicking on the "Catalog" tab. You'll find THE MASTER TEACHER Pd PROGRAM located under "Learning Networks."

For customers who wish to continue with the print version...

THE MASTER TEACHER can still provide the questions for Professional Development Points in a PDF document, but will no longer be offering a grading service or awarding credit on the current website. We will continue to provide the questions, but will not be responsible for grading the answers and tracking PDPs earned.
